

Project Director Catholic Leadership Formation College

40 Days: £16,000 (£400 per day)

September 2016 – August 2018

- Do you have a passion to equip senior leaders for Catholic schools?
- Are you the leader to oversee and shape the creation of a Catholic Leadership Formation College?

Applications are invited from inspirational Catholic leaders for this new position overseeing and shaping the establishment of a Catholic Leadership Formation College.

The College is being established to provide a national strategy for senior leadership formation across the Catholic school sector. It will seek to complement provision at diocesan level and ensure that there is a coherent approach across England and Wales. The College will be “virtual” in the first instance and will be jointly funded and managed by four key stakeholder groups comprising the Catholic Education Service, the Diocesan Education Services, the Catholic Higher Education Institutes and the Catholic Teaching Schools.

This exciting opportunity will suit an individual with an exceptional leadership track record, proven entrepreneurial mind-set, a theologically-based vision for Catholic education, a sound knowledge of contemporary leadership development and faith formation practices, and the confidence to promote the excellence of the college to internal and external stakeholders.

The role requires a leader with the capacity to envisage the College becoming a nationally-renowned facility inspiring change and creative thinking in leadership development in pursuit of excellence in Catholic education and its essential role in faith formation.

The successful candidate will build partnerships and programmes, enabling this College to flourish.

The role will be based in the Catholic Education Service offices at Eccleston Square office in Victoria, London SW1 but may require travel to other areas within England and Wales and some Working from Home.
